Children Give Clever Performance—Requested to Repeat Show.

One of the largest audiences that ever attended an amateur performance on the Southside last night witnessed the Lilliputian marriage at the Masonic Temple, Cowardin Avenue and Hull Street. All of the parts were taken by small children. The show was given under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the Central Methodist Church.

Y Young People's Society of the Central Methodist Church.

The hit of the evening was little Miss Margaret Knight, in the role of the bride. She was dressed in a gown of satin and was extremely handsome. Master Joseph Nunnally, Jr., the groom, was clothed in the conventional full dress. These children are about five years of age, but gave a smooth interpretation of the difficult part.

About thirty children took part in the performance. So successful was the entertainemnt that several requests to repeat it have been made.

Suits on Trial in Federal Court.

New York, February 4.—The first of the forged bills of lading suits, which followed the failure of Knight, Yancey & Co., the Decatur, Ala., cotton merchants, was put on trial to-day in the Federal District Court. Litigation involving about 44,560,000 awaits the result of this test case.

This action was brought by f. Hannay & Co., cotton merchants, of Liverpool, Eng., against the Guaranty Trust Company, of New York. It is based on a draft for if.320, made by Knight, Yancey & Co., which was discounted by the defendant. The draft was accompanied by a bill of lading for 100 hales of cotton, which afterward turned out to be a forgery. The Guaranty Trust Company discounted this draft in Pebruary, 1910, and it was forwarded to England, where the Bank of England accepted it and charged the amount to the account of A. Hannay & Co.

The plaintiffs maintain that the draft on its face was drawn against the specific bales of extents.

The plaintiffs maintain that the draft on its face was drawn against the specific bales of cotton it described and that by discounting it the defendant warranted that the cotton had been actually shipped and that the bill of lading was genuing.
